

ABSTRACT

5 A film material is used to create a concrete control joint. A thin plastic film creates a plane of weakness in the concrete to control or induce cracking at desirable locations and directions. A tool for installing the film inserts the film material into fresh concrete.

10